Ototoxicity of aminoglycoside antibiotics (streptomycin, gentamicin, etc.)

Have you been following the premise that the ototoxic side-effects of these drugs, which are clinically quite important, are related to transient excess blood levels following conventional routes of administration?
(see, for example, the attached note - not very well documented.) I mention this of course as an area for innovative delivery systems.

Yours,
